Clean energy solutions company Gentari announces the integration of its Commercial & Industrial (C&I)-focused platform, Amplus Solar, into the Gentari brand, marking a significant milestone in its journey in India. This strategic move not only reflects a unified brand identity but also signals the consolidation of Gentari's renewable energy (RE) business in the country.

Amplus Solar has been part of the Gentari group since 2023, contributing significantly to Gentari's renewables portfolio. This integration further brings together Amplus Solar's deep expertise in the C&I segment with Gentari's broader utility-scale ambitions. By operating under a single brand, Gentari will be able to advance stronger alignment across teams and functions, positioning the group to deliver more cohesive and scalable clean energy solutions across both distributed and utility-scale segments.

This rebrand represents more than just a name change – it marks the next phase of Gentari's integrated strategy for India as one of our key markets. By bringing together our capabilities in C&I and utility-scale renewables under one roof, we are strengthening our foundation to deliver greater value to our customers. Under a united Gentari brand, we intend to take a more unified and impactful approach in accelerating energy transition in India," said Sushil Purohit, Chief Executive Officer of Gentari.

Mr. Sharad Pungalia, Head of Gentari India

As part of this transition, Sharad Pungalia has been appointed as the Gentari Head of India. Sharad, who has been serving as the Chief Executive Officer of Amplus Solar, has been instrumental in scaling Amplus Solar, overseeing the growth of more than 2.4 GW of operational and under-construction distributed energy assets.

With over 20 years of experience in Indias energy sector, Sharad will now lead Gentari's overall integrated operations in India, spanning its Renewable Energy, Hydrogen, and Green Mobility businesses, reinforcing the company's commitment to supporting India's clean energy transition and contributing to Gentari's global aspirations.

"Sharad's leadership at Amplus Solar has been instrumental in strengthening Gentari's foothold in the renewables space. His depth of industry experience and track record in scaling clean energy solutions position him well to further propel our India operations forward. We are confident that under his leadership, we will continue to unlock significant value for our stakeholders," said Sushil Purohit, Chief Executive Officer of Gentari.
