on global citizenship and personal growth. All participants will receive a Certificate of Achievement, while standout performers will be recognised and awarded by the UPenn team.

The residential format-a key element of ILMUNC India-will allow participants to stay on Chitkara University's internationally lauded, secure campus, offering an immersive academic and social environment. The conference is being brought to India in partnership with Big Red Education (BRE), the official facilitator of Ivy League academic programs in the region.
