Dr. Dinesh Sabnis is a prominent figure in Indian non-career diplomacy, education, United Nations affairs, and international relations, with a career spanning over 28 years. His significant contributions have advanced global initiatives in education, peace, sports, humanitarian efforts, and diplomacy. Notably, his work with organizations holding United Nations Consultative Status underscores his commitment to fostering international cooperation and promoting the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDGs). Through his extensive engagement in these areas, Dr. Sabnis has earned numerous accolades, solidifying his reputation as a leading authority in global diplomacy and international relations.

Shaping a Brighter Future through Education, Youth Empowerment, and Global Diplomacy

Dr. Sabnis, originally from Mumbai and currently residing in Nashik, India, has dedicated his life to the fields of education, sports, peace, diplomacy, and international relations. His academic credentials include a Doctorate in Physical Education and Education Administration, along with two Master's degrees—one in Physical Education and another in Political Science. These achievements have laid a strong foundation for his professional endeavours, where he has become a key proponent of utilizing education as a tool for promoting peace, engaging in UN affairs, and advancing diplomatic efforts.

From Local to Global: Leadership Opportunities in UN International Organizations

Dr. Sabnis's career is marked by his leadership roles in various intergovernmental and international non-governmental organizations recognized under United Nations ECOSOC status. Currently, he serves as the Additional Representative to the United Nations Geneva Office for the World Fund for Development & Planning (WFDP) and the Additional Representative to the United Nations Vienna Office for Lazarus

Union. In these prestigious positions, he plays a crucial role in advancing the missions of both organizations, focusing on sustainable development, youth empowerment, and global peace initiatives. Additionally, Dr. Sabnis holds the significant title of Cabinet Minister within the Ministry of Sports for the African Diaspora (SOAD), an apex body established under the auspices of the African Union and in collaboration with the Pan African Parliament. This dual engagement underscores his dedication not only to the Asia-Pacific region but also to the African continent and its diaspora.

Empowering Young Minds Through Global Connections

Dr. Sabnis has made a remarkable impact through his commitment to mentoring young learners from India and Africa over the past four years, particularly in the fields of international relations and diplomacy. His mentorship has facilitated students' participation in various platforms related to the workings of the United Nations, enhancing their understanding of global governance. He has personally guided Indian students in presenting papers on critical sustainable development goals, including quality education, gender equality, youth development, climate action, and peace and justice, at the United Nations offices in Geneva and Vienna. Additionally, Dr. Sabnis has organized visits to several UN offices and permanent missions, providing students with invaluable hands-on experience. Through his guidance, these emerging leaders have been empowered to actively engage in global peace initiatives and deepen their knowledge of the United Nations and international diplomacy. Dr. Sabnis recently published a book titled "United Nations: A Journey Toward Sustainable Peace & Global Development", which achieved bestseller status on Amazon India.
