Hong Kong

In the first quarter of 2025, Hong Kong witnessed a 9% increase in visitor arrivals. The city in East Asia that boasts a melting pot of culture recorded 3.8 million tourist arrivals in April. The 13 per cent year-on-year growth in tourism can be attributed to Hong Kong's appeal as a family tourism destination. The blend of unique cultural experiences, natural beauty, panda-mania, traditional fishing villages and scintillating street food spots adds to the city's appeal.

Offering a melange of experiences and activities across iconic sites, theme parks, the outdoors and culinary trails, Hong Kong promises to be the ultimate family destination

Offering a melange of experiences and activities across iconic sites, theme parks, the outdoors and culinary trails, Hong Kong promises to be the ultimate family destination.

Positioned as the 'World's Meeting Place,' rightfully so, in the global business community, its allure can be attributed to four factors – its thrilling theme parks, outdoorsy activities, culinary gems and its unique travel offerings.

Hong Kong's theme parks have a charm that attracts people of all ages. A family favourite is the Hong Kong Disneyland. 'The Happiest Place on Earth,' synonymous with its fantastical zones and thrilling rides, recently threw open its newest attractions, 'World of Frozen' and 'Mystic Manor'. Not checking these out in person causes major FOMO.

Hit by a city-wide 'panda-monium,' the government-backed campaign 'Pandastic Hong Kong' has let visitors get up close with the city's most adorable, furry inhabitants. At Ocean Park Hong Kong, Ying Ying, the oldest first-time panda mother and her twin cubs are the celebrities people from all over the world are flying in to meet.

Here, you must sign up for the Giant Panda Discovery (29 March 2025 to 31 August 2025), an experience that lets you get insider access to restricted areas and observe the furry beings go about their daily routine. Ocean Park Hong Kong will be hosting a birthday party for its twin cubs on 15 August 2025. That's a panda-mania you can't miss out on!

Doing full justice to the 'Ultimate Destination' tag are Hong Kong's outdoorsy activities that let vacationers soak in unparalleled views while being active. On the cards is Tai Mei Tuk, a cycling trail overlooking the Plover Cove Reservoir; the chance to explore the city's oldest fishing village on foot, Tai O Fishing Village, and escape to the Tian Tan Buddha & Po Lin Monastery for a slice of tranquillity.

For adventure seekers, Hong Kong offers the opportunity to go horse racing at Happy Valley Racecourse and the Hong Kong Jockey Club. Thalassophiles can let down their hair and rent a charter yacht or a boat to sail the extensive coastline along the South China Sea.

And football fans must attend the Hong Kong Football Festival, an unmissable sporting event. Kickstarting on 26 July 2025 at Kai Tak Stadium, the first international match between Liverpool FC vs AC Milan promises to be an adrenaline-pumping event.

Creating waves in the tourism industry, Hong Kong's ultimate destination tag extends to its commitment to promote 'sustainable travel.' Charting a new era of 'green tourism,' Hong Kong will unveil 'Four Peaks Tourism' in 2026. Catering to the wanderlust hikers, this initiative will give them access to four peaks-The Peak, Lantau Peak, Sai Kung Hoi, and Tai Mo Shan-encouraging eco-conscious travel.

Outdoorsy activities would leave one with a growling appetite. So, for discerning foodies, Hong Kong is nothing short of paradise. Riddled with a mesh of Michelin-starred experiences like Shang Palace and Arbor, a Temple Street Night Market for street fare, dim sum and egg tart workshops with expert chefs, the ultimate family destination will feel like a home to vegetarian, vegan and non-vegetarians.

For culinary enthusiasts, Hong Kong has a stream of food-forward festivals. From 1 May 2025 to 8 June 2025, Hong Kong will host the French GourMay, a culinary festival dedicated to gastronomy la française. The 16th edition brings forth gourmet stalls featuring French flavours, live cooking demos and curated spirit tasting all under one roof.

As always, food and travel must be taken in the same breath. So, apart from the most unique food offerings, among Hong Kong's most unique travel highlights is Victoria Peak, standing at 552m, offering the most stunning views of the city skyline. Accessible by a 10-minute tram ride, the peak is a captivating attraction. Another unmissable experience in Hong Kong is the 'Symphony of Lights', a light and sound show on a sunset cruise that promises cherishable memories for family vacationers.

Another unique event in the city is the 70 Years of Miffy 2025, happening from early May until October. It is the first playhouse and exhibition in Hong Kong dedicated to Miffy, the titular character of picture books illustrated by Dutch author and designer, Dick Bruna. Watch Miffy and her world come alive at the 1881 Heritage through simple line drawing and full-colour art. Hong Kong is a destination where the larger-than-life theme parks meet thrilling outdoor activities, where the choicest culinary creations are found by the most unique experiences beloved to the city; where festivals, sporting events and exhibitions run throughout the year in plenty.

A place that boasts the top 5 family-friendly attractions, including a visit to Disneyland Hong Kong, a panda-spotting outing at Ocean Park Hong Kong, a splendid day of cycling at Tai Mei Tuk, soaking in the stunning views at Victoria Peak and a spiritual trip to Tian Tan Buddha & Po Lin Monastery.

This city offers the ultimate escape for the holiday goer demanding more out of a travel experience.
