Welcome to Swaminarayan Akshardham Mandir!

Swaminarayan Akshardham Mandir, located in New Delhi, is a magnificent Hindu temple that showcases the rich cultural and spiritual heritage of India. It is one of the largest and most beautiful temples in the world, attracting millions of visitors every year.

The Architecture

The temple's architecture is a marvel in itself. It is built entirely using traditional methods and does not use any steel or concrete. The intricate carvings, exquisite sculptures, and detailed craftsmanship make it a sight to behold. The temple complex spans over 100 acres and includes a main temple, exhibition halls, a musical fountain, and lush gardens.

The Main Temple

The main temple is dedicated to Bhagwan Swaminarayan and showcases his life and teachings. As you enter the temple, you will be awestruck by the grandeur and beauty of the intricate carvings and sculptures. The sanctum sanctorum houses the idol of Bhagwan Swaminarayan, adorned with gold and precious stones. The peaceful ambiance and divine atmosphere create a sense of serenity and tranquility.

The Exhibitions

Akshardham Mandir is not just a temple; it is also an educational and cultural center. The temple complex houses several exhibitions that provide insights into India's ancient history, culture, and spirituality. The exhibitions use state-of-the-art technology, such as audio-visual presentations and animatronics, to bring history to life. Visitors can learn about India's contributions to science, art, literature, and more.
