New Delhi, 22 July, 2025: Tata Power Community Development Trust (TPCDT), in collaboration with Anupam Kher Studio, hosted special screenings of the film “Tanvi The Great” today at PVR Select City Walk, Saket, New Delhi. The event marks a significant step under Tata Power’s flagship Pay Autention initiative to build greater awareness, understanding, and acceptance of Autism Spectrum Disorder and the broader neurodiversity spectrum.

The screening was attended by Mr. Himal Tewari, CHRO & Chief Sustainability & CSR, along with other Tata Power leaders and over 800 participants, including neurodiverse children, caregivers, educators, Tata Group leaders, NGO partners, Government representatives, and other stakeholders. Adding depth to the experience, a Pay Attention Sensory Experience Zone curated by Sensory All, a startup dedicated to creating inclusive sensory environments, was set up at the venue. The immersive space provided visitors with a unique opportunity to engage with the world from a neurodiverse perspective.

Through this strategic partnership, Tata Power and Anupam Kher Studio will extend curated screenings of "Tanvi The Great" and the Pay Attention Experience Zone to four more cities – Chennai, Bangalore, Hyderabad, and Kolkata, creating inclusive spaces for neurodiverse and neurotypical individuals, educators, NGOs, caregivers, and policy stakeholders.

The screening was attended by representatives from Department for Empowerment of Persons with Disabilities, Skill Council for Persons with Disabilities, NIEPID, and special students from SHAD Centre, Learning Ladder, Jai Jagruti Foundation, Lakshya Foundation, Viklang Sahara Samiti, Action for Autism, Indian Sign Language Research and Training Centre, Asha Hain, Youth4Jobs, National Abilimipics Association.

Speaking on the occasion, Mr Himal Tewari, CHRO & Chief Sustainability & CSR, said “Inclusion isn’t about treating people with autism differently, it’s about celebrating the uniqueness in each of us. With Tanvi The Great, we aim to spark conversations that build empathy and embrace differences. At Tata Power, our commitment to inclusive and sustainable development drives us to bridge gaps through our Pay Attention initiative – India’s first physical and digital neurodiversity support network. Because in the world we envision, every mind truly matters.”

“We are all made of stories, they shape us, inspire us, and connect us. As storytellers, it is our duty to shine a light on narratives that celebrate goodness and inclusion. ‘Tanvi The Great’ is deeply personal, inspired by my niece Tanvi, who, like so many neurodiverse individuals, is brimming with talent and potential. True success for this story will be when it reaches hearts across the country. We’re proud to partner with Tata Power Community Development Trust, whose Pay Attention initiative is creating awareness and support for autism and neurodiversity. Together, we hope to create a lasting, meaningful impact for our neurodiverse communities.”

– Anupam Kher, Veteran Actor and Director

“Tanvi The Great” is a powerful narrative about a young neurodiverse girl who defies societal limitations to pursue her dream. The film sensitively captures the challenges and strengths of individuals on the autism spectrum, sparking critical conversations around inclusion, acceptance, and resilience.

The screening aligns with Tata Power’s ongoing commitment to social equity through its Pay Attention program, which focuses on awareness, early diagnosis, caregiver support, inclusive education, skill development, and workplace integration. With over 500 partner organizations, 18,000 individuals and families impacted, subject matter experts, and curated E-Sanidhya platform along with MSJE and Tata Elxsi, the initiative has already impacted thousands of lives, particularly among underserved communities.

TPCDT's support of "Tanvi The Great" as part of its Pay Attention mission underscores the belief that storytelling has the power to shift societal narratives and create lasting change. This cultural milestone brings neurodiversity into the mainstream, paving the way for a more inclusive future.
