Shobhit Mohanty, Founder of thePack, said, “India is home to a growing number of first-time dog parents. Without proper guidance, the journey to raise dogs can be quite overwhelming for first time parents. Limited access to expert advice, essential information and resources has led to India boasting the world’s highest pet abandonment rate. We are committed to bridging this gap. Our goal is to empower parents with the knowledge and support they need to raise happy, healthy dogs. With this funding, we will expand our reach, strengthen our community and solidify our position as India’s most trusted educational platform for pet parents.”

As per industry reports, the pet population in India stands at approximately 35 million, growing at a CAGR of 15%. However, India also boasts the highest pet abandonment rate in the world with nearly 50% current and previous pet owners stating they have relinquished a pet, compared to 28 per cent globally. As per thePack team, most of these abandonments are due to preventable health and behaviour issues in dogs, which can be solved through a more informed and pro-active approach.

By democratizing access to expert advice and pet care education, and by creating a supportive pet parents' community, thePack seeks to make it easier for pet owners to raise dogs and reduce the pet abandonment rate in India.

Rohit Kalsi, Investor, added, "As passionate pet parents and entrepreneurs, we see immense potential in thePack to democratize access to quality dog care in the country. By making it easy for first-time pet parents to receive qualified expert guidance, we're confident that thePack will not only simplify pet parenting but also fuel industry growth and bring a positive change to the ecosystem. We're proud to be a part of this movement."

thePack.in was started in Nov 2020 by a group of first-time pet parents who faced innumerable challenges in raising their dogs. Over 4 years, thePack has helped 20,000+ pet parents learn more about their dogs and adopt best practices. Their team of certified experts have hosted thousands of online and in-person events, consultations and other interactive educational sessions to solve the challenges that pet parents face in raising their dogs.
