Praveen Kumar, an employee of Zenplus Fleet, successfully administered CPR on a fellow passenger who was having a heart attack while flying from Mumbai to Chennai. This life-saving initiative demonstrates the relevance of CPR training and Zenzo EMS's (Zenplus Fleets subsidiary) commitment to providing people with essential emergency response skills.

The flight which was scheduled to fly directly from Mumbai to Chennai was unable to reach its destination on time due to an air show rehearsal in Chennai, leading to its diversion to Madurai for an emergency landing. Shortly after the aircraft landed, a 65-year-old passenger suddenly passed out. Praveen Kumar, trained in providing life-saving medical aid during emergencies, realized the gravity of the situation and offered to help immediately. With the help of the cabin crew, Praveen administered CPR. Through his ardent efforts, the passenger regained consciousness, demonstrating the life-saving potential of CPR. The passenger was then immediately taken to the emergency department for further medical treatment. Praveen's prompt intervention and presence of mind resulted in the passengers recovery.
